our records give the number of the Transformatoren- und Roentgenwerk Dresden as 140505, but there is probably some simple explanation of the contradiction. Our records only listed numbers in this series up to 140520. It may be that the Roentgenwerk has been separated from the Transformatorenwerk since that date and has been allotted the higher number, or it may be that the number 140531 is the number of the mysterious Zeiss subsidiary in Dresden which has been reported as collaborating in the work.
